

FRIDAY EVENING. SEP. 29, 1905.

SENATOR GORMAN, in his speech just before adjournment of the Maryland democratic State convention yesterday, replied to charges made by republicans that the proposed constitutional disfranchising amendment was intended to benefit him by enabling the democratic machine to retain control of the State. He asserted he had always been consistent in fighting against negro supremacy in the South and that he now sought to lift the pall from Maryland, without any hope of reward. In concluding his speech, he said:

I have been fighting this same struggle under various conditions during the last 40 years, and I say now that if in November next we can lift, as I believe we will, this pall from the State and restore to the intelligent white men the untrammeled right to control our own affairs. I will agree never to seek place and will die a happy man. But I promise this, if life and health be spared, that if by any corrupt combination with disaffected mocrats and reformers the negroes and their white republican allies should befeat us in this election I am still a soldier and will fight on. The French bave a proverb that "everything comes to him And as white men never surrender, but always fight for their lib erty and their manhood, we will fight until there is not one left to accomplish an object so necessary for the welfare of the State, I am with you for that as long

This was a noble utterance from a noble man, but it is doubtful whether cusses the situation. Senator Gorman's host of friends will let him retire from public life even after the Poe amendment is adopted. It is risking nothing to say that there are few men in Maryland today who could fill his place in the U.S. Senate.

THAT the conscience of the American nation is not keeping pace with its intelligence, that political and social information must, in their last analysis rest upon moral reformation, that the Protestant Episcopal Church lacks faith in itself, and that the negro problem is the most profound question confronting us, were the declarations made yesterday by Bishop Co-adjutor David H. Greer, addressing the New York Diocesan Convention. For the relief of these conditions he advocated greater energy in missionary work at home. Many have believed for years past that this home work has been neglected for foreign work, overlooking the truth that such matters, like charity, begin at home.

THE WANTON murder of a mother and four children near Edna, Texas, is among the latest horrors chronicled. The suit case murder is as much of a mystery as ever, and while people were temporarily startled by that grim discovery news came from England that a woman had been murdered, dismembered and the trunk of her body thrown from a railroad train. blooded deeds which are described in newspapers every day. It looks as though some peeple are, like those of old, subject to demoniac influence.

IT SEEMS that absolutely nothing escaped the attention of the Japanese during the recent war. Their foresight was incredible. The men on the war ships had to bathe and put on clean under clothing just before a battle to minimize the danger of getting bacteria into wounds, and the evesight of the gunners was tested and a 1 percent, solution of boracic acid was supplied to the men to wash the smoke out of their eyes with. It is no wonder that the Russians couldn't succeed.

Lower retail prices during the com ing season for meat, dairy products, poultry and the necessities of life are predicted by Secretary Wilson. He says the relief for the householder will come come from the enormous yields of small grain and corn in the great territory. This will be gratifying intelligence for the legion of breadwinners who for many years past have had to pay fully twenty-five per cent more for food stuffs than they formerly paid.

Conditions in Hungary. Buda Pesth, Hungary, Sept. 29.—The opinion is gaining ground here that quiet will continue until October 10, when parliament will assemble. It is feared, however, that there will be a violent renewal of the quarrel between the coalitionists, and the King-Emperor Francis Joseph, at that time. The situation then will probably become acute, if the Emperor continues to refuse to appoint a coalitionist as premier. It is believed that the parliament will refuse to obey the monarch if he attempts to adjourn the session, thus bringing about an open breach with Francis Joseph, and making the parliament practically a dupli-cate of the French convention which was the forerupper of the French revolution. If the disorder occur, the conflict will probably be between the sup porters of the coalition and the socialists, who are as bitterly opposed to Francis lition leaders as reappoint Baron Fejervary as premier. New York Stock Market.

New York, Sept. 29.—The stock market was influenced, shortly after the opening by the sending out of notices calling in many loans of call money, but although money was in demand from the start at 6 per cent, there was no urgent liquidation. Prices declined all around the room on selling mostly by room traders. It was generally assumed that with the completion of carrying over of stocks today there will be no further disturbance in Wall street accommodations for some time to come. By Tuesday or so all the amounts accumulated for tax payments will go through the ordinary bank channels and casier conditions will prevail.

No Money to Entertain.

Plans for the entertainment of President Roosevelt when he comes to Mont! gomery, Ala., on October 23, on his southern tour, had a setback yesterday when at a special meeting of the City Council acting Mayor. McIntyre, who is a member of the Council, walked out of dress suit case mystery than when they the meeting, breaking a quorum, thereby delaying the passage of a resolution appropriating money to entertain the President while in Montgomery. Not only this, but Alderman James J. Sullivan spoke earnestly in opposition to the passage of the resolution, and declared Montgomery would not be benefited by the President's visit. The reason of this opposition is that the President has put Montgomery down for only two hours, while he will be at Booker T. Washingon's school at Tuskegee a much longer time.

The readers of this paper will be pledged to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only ponitive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constipational disease, requires a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrah Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
